SUBJECT: Practitioners Guide to Supportive Services

1. Purpose. To provide a resource guide to workforce investment practitioners who assist jobseekers in finding and applying for financial assistance and other supportive services.

2. Action Requested. Use and share the practitioners guide to help ensure all jobseekers searching for work, beginning new employment, or entering training can find and apply for the assistance they need for economic stability.

3. Summary and Background.

   a. Summary – This practitioners guide describes available resources, including pandemic related emergency services, useful in helping workforce program customers gain economic stability.

   b. Background – The Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act Section 134(c) (2) and its regulations at 20 CFR 678.430 describe career services, including providing usable and understandable information on supportive services and assistance. Further, WIOA Adult, Dislocated Worker, and Youth programs, and many DOL-funded competitive grant programs, allow program funds to be used directly for supportive services. Many workforce development practitioners are experienced at helping customers find appropriate supportive services, particularly in their local community. This guide comprehensively lists nationally-available programs and those newly created in response to the pandemic. Additional supportive services will exist in local communities from state or local governments or nonprofit, community-based, or faith-based organizations, and strong partnerships between workforce programs and partner programs can holistically support jobseekers and learners.
4. Practitioners Guide for Supportive Services. This guide aims to assist workforce professionals quickly and accurately locate emergency and long-term resources for workforce program customers to gain economic stability. It includes information on rental assistance, supports for utilities and broadband, child care, the child tax credit, earned income tax credit, nutrition and food security, health care resources, and legal aid among others. Additional information on supportive services is also available on the Department of Labor’s technical assistance platform for workforce practitioners at Workforce GPS.

5. Inquiries. The guide includes links to online information for most services. Please direct any other inquiries to the appropriate ETA Regional Office.

6. References.

Practitioners Guide to Supportive Services

This guide aims to assist workforce professionals quickly and accurately locate emergency and long-term resources for workforce program customers to gain economic stability. It includes information on rental assistance, supports for utilities and broadband, childcare, the child tax credit, earned income tax credit, nutrition and food security, health care resources, and legal aid among others. Additional information on supportive services is also available on the Department of Labor’s technical assistance platform for workforce practitioners, at Workforce GPS.

Traditionally, workforce development practitioners are aware of, and know how to access supportive services. This resource guide advances that list of available resources, and includes emergency and long-term services, and those born out of newly identified needs exposed during the pandemic. This quick and easy guide is not an exhaustive list of available resources but an immediate active list of current programs from the Federal or State level to serve immediate needs.

Rental Assistance

Rental Assistance Toolkit

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau identifies State and local organizations who are distributing federal rental assistance to their communities. The federal ERA program allows local programs to cover rent, utilities, and home energy costs. This includes electricity, gas, fuel oil, water and sewer, and trash removal. If your landlord normally pays for utilities or home energy costs, these are counted as part of your rent.

Rental assistance may also cover:

- Reasonable late fees (if not included in your rental or utility debt)
- Internet service to your home
- Moving expenses and other rental-related fees (such as security deposits, application fees, or screening fees) for families who have to move
- Some programs may also provide housing counseling, case management, legal representation, and other housing stability services.

For additional information go to Emergency financial assistance to help renters and landlords.

Para obtener información adicional, visite Ayuda financiera de emergencia para inquilinos – recursos.

Emergency Rental Assistance Program

Emergency Rental Assistance program makes funding available to assist households that are unable to pay rent or utilities. Two separate programs have been established to provide directly to states, U.S. territories, local governments, Indian tribes or Tribally Designated Housing Entities, as applicable, and the Department of Hawaiian Home Lands grant funds to provide assistance to eligible households through existing or newly created rental assistance programs.

For additional information go to Emergency Rental Assistance Program.

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau – Landlord Assistance

Landlords are an important part of the rental economy. If rental income has fallen, landlords can take advantage of options to stay in control of property and financial situations through recovery of back rent, owed by tenants. Landlords can apply for renters in 3 of 4 programs funded by the U.S. Treasury Department’s Emergency Rental Assistance (ERA) Program. Rent payments are usually delivered straight to the housing provider. For additional information go to: Help for renters: Coronavirus housing resources.

Runaway and Homeless Youth Program

Through the Runaway and Homeless Youth Program, FYSB funds street outreach, short-term shelter, and longer-term transitional living, and maternity group home programs that serve and protect these young people. The short-term shelter programs meet the immediate needs of runaway and homeless youth and their families. Youth receive emergency shelter, food, clothing, counseling, and referrals for health care. To locate a program, go to Runaway and Homeless Youth.

National Runaway Switchboard

The mission of the National Runaway Switchboard (NRS) is to help keep America’s runaway, homeless, and at-risk youth safe and off the streets. Its goal is to help youth help themselves while developing a detailed plan of action that is appropriate for the individual.

Assistance can be provided by phone 24 hours a day at 1-800-RUNAWAY. Youth can also visit the Web site for help and additional resources and services at Home Free.

The organization serves as the federally- designated national communication system for runaway and homeless.

The National Reentry Resource Center

The National Reentry Resource Center (NRRC) provides education, training, and technical assistance to states, tribes, territories, local governments, service providers, non-profit organizations, and corrections institutions working on prisoner reentry. The NRRC’s mission is to advance the reentry field through knowledge transfer and dissemination and to promote evidence-based best practices. For more information, go to National Reentry Resource Center.

The NRRC developed the National Criminal Justice Initiatives map to highlight national reentry and other criminal justice initiatives implemented throughout the United States and its territories. The map, though not exhaustive, seeks to provide a place-based catalog of national initiatives and programs designed to reduce the recidivism rates of people returning from prison, jail, and juvenile facilities. The map will be updated periodically as new initiatives are announced. To utilize the map to find programs and resources, go to National Reentry Resource Center.
U. S. Department of Housing & Urban Development (HUD)

HUD offers help to those who are homeless, at risk of becoming homeless, or know someone that is homeless. Local homeless assistance agencies provide a range of services and assistance, including emergency shelter, food, housing counseling, and job training and placement assistance.

For information about housing, start by contacting a homeless assistance agency Resources Housing and Urban Development.

Utilities

Consumer Financial Assistance – Utilities, Gas, Fuel, Oil, Water, Sewer & Trash

The federal ERA Program allows local programs to cover rent, utilities, and home energy costs. This includes electricity, gas, fuel oil, water and sewer, and trash removal. If your landlord normally pays for utilities or home energy costs, these are counted as part of your rent.

- Rental assistance may also cover:
- Reasonable late fees (if not included in your rental or utility debt)
- Internet service to your home
- Moving expenses and other rental-related fees (such as security deposits, application fees, or screening fees) for families who have to move

Some programs may also provide housing counseling, case management, legal representation, and other housing stability services. For additional information go to Emergency financial assistance.

Family Assistance

Childcare

Childcare and Development Fund

State childcare assistance programs are funded through the CCDF. CCDF is a Federal program that assists low-income families, families receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), and those transitioning from TANF in getting childcare so they can work or attend training/education. Each state has its own eligibility guidelines. One may apply for childcare assistance (sometimes called a “subsidy” or “voucher”) at a state or local agency. For more information on CCDF, visit the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services’ Office of Childcare Web page at Office of Childcare (OCC). To learn more about the childcare assistance program, contact the state childcare agency.

For a list of all state and territory CCDF contacts, visit State and Territory Childcare and Development Fund Administrators.

Early Head Start (EHS)

EHS is a Federally-funded, community-based program for low-income families with infants, toddlers, and pregnant women. It offers children and families comprehensive child development services through center based programs, home-visiting programs, and a combination of program options. EHS hours of operation vary from program to program. To find out how to contact a local EHS program, call 866-763-6481 or visit the EHS Program Locator Web site at HeadStartOffices.

Head Start

Head Start is a Federally-funded, community-based child development program for children 3 to 5 years old and their families. It is a child-focused program and has the overall goal of increasing the school readiness of young children from low-income families. Head Start serves children whose family income is at or below the Federal Poverty Income Guidelines. Like EHS, Head Start programs may serve a limited number of children from families who earn more than this income limit. Programs can provide care through the traditional half-day and part-year hours, the full-day and full-year hours, or the half-day and school-year hours. To find a local Head Start program, call 866-763-6481 or use the online national Head Start Locator Tool at HeadStartOffices.

Plus, if you re-enroll in FSAFEDS during Open Season, you can carry over up to $550.00 remaining in your account from one plan year to the next, so there’s no "use or lose" risk. Health Care FSA.

Child Support

Child Support Enforcement (CSE)

CSE is a federal/state/local partnership to establish and enforce child support orders. It is sometimes called the IV-D Program because it was established under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act in 1975. Anyone who has custody of a child who needs child support from a nonresident parent can apply for CSE services.

People who are on an assistance program - Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), foster care, or Medicaid - are referred to the CSE Program and get the services free. People who do not receive federal/state assistance can apply for services. States can charge an application fee of up to $25 and they can charge for the cost of providing CSE services. State CSE agencies run the program and can help to locate a parent to establish paternity, or a support order and they can help to enforce the order. The CSE agency can be in the state's human services agency, attorney general’s office, or revenue department. The addresses and telephone numbers for the state CSE agencies are at (English).
