3. Background. During a recent Quality Appraisal training session held at the Latham Hotel in Georgetown on August 24 - 28, 1992, two questions concerning Nonmonetary Determinations Promptness were surfaced. Also, the question was asked whether or not EUC samples should be used for Quality Appraisal.

4. Review of Nonmonetary Determinations. Samples of Nonmonetary Determinations are reviewed to determine whether or not they were made timely, and, if not, what caused the determinations to be delayed. Two types of issues are included in the review - issues arising in connection with filing an additional claim, and issues arising during the claim series. The attached questions and answers are being provided in an attempt to assure that these situations are handled consistently by all States.
